I can't believe this is how I got to spend my summer break. Did you get my email?
I have so much more to share with you. This experience has been incredible-meeting new people, visiting new places and learning a ton! An unforgettable time, for sure.
I can't believe I'm this lucky.

The chance to do what I want to do for the rest of my life during my first year in college?
Sign me up!

The four years of undergrad are
the perfect time to find yourself,
to seek new adventures and
to make lifelong memories,
which is exactly what I am doing.

At Florida State University, we know learning isn't limited to the school year. Unique summer experiences enhance education far beyond the classroom, and we ensure our students have access to opportunities
like these to support their growth.

We help our students find their voice, transform, lead and become the best version of themselves.

But we don't do this alone. Your support is needed so that every Seminole who has the passion to do great things has the opportunity to make them happen.

Karina Amalbert

Sophomore | Kissimmee, Fla.

Karina Amalbert, a first-generation college student, traveled to Peru and worked with special-needs children in the Andes. Amalbert considers the experience to be life changing, "I stand a little taller now thanks to this experience," she explained.

"...traveled for the first time abroad to Peru educating children with special abilities from low-income areas as part of the FSU Global Scholars program."

Cortez Brown

Second-Year Medical Student | Vero Beach, Fla.

For three weeks this summer, Cortez Brown called Immokalee, Fla., "home" while participating in a summer clinical practicum that "exposed me to what the life of a physician serving the underserved holds." The passion of his teaching physician inspired Brown to expand upon his own work ethic and " ... led me to come home after a day at the clinic and pour over the high volume diseases and conditions I will most likely encounter the next day."

"...worked side-by-side with practicing community physicians in underserved areas as part of the FSU College of Medicine's summer clinical practicum."

Ahmad Daraldik

Freshman | Tallahassee, Fla.

Participating in the Center for Academic Retention and Enhancement's Summer Bridge Program, first-generation college student Ahmad Daraldik eased his way into an otherwise often-hectic college life. By arriving on campus before the fall semester, Daraldik got the opportunity to "get a feel for the campus, make connections, and through CARE, meet some amazing people I believe will be lifelong friends."

"...got a head start on my success by arriving to campus early and getting acclimated to Florida State through the CARE program."

Ashley Mangan

Senior | Orlando, Fla.

A finance major and business analytics minor, Ashley Mangan was looking for an experience that would both utilize her skills and present new learning opportunities. She was pleased to find exactly that with an internship at Lockheed Martin. Mangan said her time with the organization allowed her "to learn and grow in ways I never thought possible," and "will carry over into classes and beyond school."

"...tackled real-world business problems at an internship with Lockheed Martin, which will be invaluable as I pursue my MBA."
