Why study chemistry at Adelphi?

Our chemistry and biochemistry programs are approved by the American Chemical Society and will prepare you for a rewarding career. You will:

1. Learn in small classes with expert faculty who are focused on your success.
2. Conduct research under the mentorship of a faculty member using state-of-the-art equipment.
3. Present your research results at conferences throughout the New York area, and beyond.
4. Be career-ready or ready for graduate school: Our graduates continue on to prestigious graduate programs or begin their careers in chemistry.

"Our class size was small, so our professors could tailor the courses to our group. The chance to do high-level research starting in my freshman year prepared me well for graduate school and a future career in science."

Samantha Mueller '17, BS in Biochemistry, currently a PhD candidate at Boston University
